CAN you afford to buy clothing without considering its wearing value?

Few men can.

It is that one point in Campbell's Clothing which has established its popularity with men who must get good service from their clothes.

The price is not high when the quality is considered.

Each garment gives the most satisfactory kind of service to the man who wears it.

HEARTBREAKING SCENES ENACTED LAST NIGHT AT THE CROWNING OF KING COOK

Ambassadors from the Bulgars and Turks Declared Allegiance

IMPERIAL TREASURY FILLED BY ZULU CHIEF

Patient Subjects Rendered Homage with Awe and Trembling

The King is crowned. Long Live the King!

Last night an old custom among medical students was perpetuated in the Union before a large and jovial representation of the two junior years in Medicine. It was the Annual crowning of His Most Iniquitous Majesty, King Cook III.

Promptly at 8:30 o'clock His Majesty approached the throne attended by his court and Bulgarian guards, as well as envoys from all the "known and unknown" countries of the world—Low priests and High advisors and crown bearers. "King Cook" was arrayed in the gorgeous robe of the President of the Chinese Empire (the position to which he was elected last year).

When the King had seated himself on the Imperial throne, he was approached by a most distinguished envoy from the Far East in the person of Fuku Yama Mediator who had journeyed from far-off Japan to bring greetings. This potentate ad-wide interest has shifted from the Far East to the Near. Consequently, it was fitting that greetings should be extended to the Great King by the crumbling empire of Europe.

Babel Mandibulai from Turkey approached the throne, and, after a most profuse eulogy crowned the 'Diabolical Retrobate' 'Sultan of the Turks.'

With all the embellishments of a prince, and the trappings of a Mogul Vladimir-popoff, bestowed upon the Monarch the title of "King of the Bulgars."

After this very interesting and spectacular part of the ceremony had been gone through with "King", Court, envoys, subjects descended to the "Sale A Manger" to partake of a little "Maxillary Exercise."

The identity of the edibles was hidden under appropriate medical terms. After the last drop of Hexahydramethyl-pararosaniline has disappeared, Mr. Hartman President of Med. '16, called upon one of the distinguished dressed "His Most Ignoble Majesty" in elaborate terms and conveyed to him the "disrespects" of his own country. He commented upon the many virtues of the King and upon his mighty powers, for it was none other than King Cook himself who built the Medical Building—who designed the elaborate dormitories—constructed the imposing skating rink—expunged the examinations, and least of all, taught the profs all they know. Only recently did he assist the great American Republic by electing Woodrow Wilson President of the United States. Another idea which he evolved and one of great importance to Medical students was the beating of all dissecting sets into plow shares.

Before the sun of another day has risen "His Infamous Majesty" will have wiped out of existence the deficit of the Student's Council. This part was excellently portrayed by Alton Goldbloom.

Since last year the scene of world-wide interest has shifted from the Far East to the Near. Consequently, it was fitting that greetings should be extended to the Great King by the crumbling empire of Europe. Babel Mandibulai from Turkey approached the throne, and, after a most profuse eulogy crowned the 'Diabolical Retrobate' 'Sultan of the Turks.'

The committee and performers deserve much praise for the highly successful manner in which the whole affair was conducted. Among those taking part were: 'King Cook,' John Tobin; Messrs. Alton Goldbloom, Miller, Wolf, Campbell, Price, S. Baldwin and A. Stewart.

Editorial

Notice of an amendment to the constitution of the Student's Society has been given by members of the editorial staff of the McGill Daily. The amendment states that to article V. of the Constitution another section shall be added to read "The editor of the "Daily" shall be entitled to attend all Council meetings, and to publish accounts thereof at his discretion."

There have been several arguments advanced in opposition to this by members of the Council. One is that conversation and discussion among the members at the meetings should not be open to the editor of the Daily or to any other undergraduate; another one is to the effect that there are often many matters under discussion in which publicity would be very harmful; while still another one is to the effect that the Council are in the position of a board of directors of a company of which the students are the stockholders, and that it is neither desirable nor according to custom that the stockholders should know what is going on at the meetings of the directors.

On the other hand, it is our belief that the suggested amendment is a desirable one in many respects. We feel that every step which tends to bring the Council into closer touch with the undergraduates is a step in the right direction. Understanding begets confidence, and it is highly desirable that the students, whom the Council represent, should not only understand what that body is doing, but should lend it their moral support and upon every occasion have that confidence in its actions which is so helpful in every way.

Misunderstandings have this year arisen which would have been avoided if the suggested arrangement had been in force this year; much fuller interest would have been taken in the Council, and the difficulties they are called upon to face would have been made very clear to the undergraduates. There are times, undoubtedly, when publicity might be harmful, but the editor will be empowered to exercise his discretion and a request from the Council that publicity be withheld would assuredly meet with every consideration on his part.

We believe that this suggested change would prove of the greatest benefit to the undergraduates, the Council, and the paper. That harm will result, we refuse to admit. If the undergraduates of McGill University approve of this suggested change, let them say so at the meeting on the nineteenth of this month. This is a matter of vital interest to them as both the Council and the "Daily" are student organizations run entirely by and for the undergraduates.

Don't forget the meeting of the Athletic Association To-night in the Union!

Pennsylvania.—Seventy two crew candidates started in the first practice on the river; these seventy-two were picked from the two hundred who turned out at the first call.

Pennsylvania.—A large football dinner has been planned to take place on March 14th at the Racquet Club. Over a hundred former players and captains are expected to be present.

Rochester.—The Rochester University Dramatic Club will present Daly's comedy entitled "A Night Off" at an early date in the Lyceum theatre.

Rochester.—The Colgate University basketball team gained a victory over the University of Rochester five by a score of 21-17. Colgate won in the last few minutes of the play.

Stanford University.—The women students of this university undertook to get out the college daily paper the other day. The paper was printed on pink paper, and was entitled "Sporting Extra!"

Princeton.—At the farewell demonstration tendered to President Wilson, the Princeton students presented him with a loving cup.

Princeton.—The Freshman basketball team scored a decisive victory over the Yale Freshmen, the final score being 22-7. Last week the same team won by a score of 34-8.

The Varsity of Wednesday contains an article headed "How Varsity Can Outswim McGill." The only way they can do so is to get one of the finest teams on the continent. From present indications it will be some time before this occurs.

Toronto University.—At the final meeting of the "Lit" this term, the Liberal Government by a vote of 59 to 39, carried through their bill on Canadian Naval Defense.

Princeton.—Harvard, Pennsylvania and Princeton will hold a triangular regatta on the Charles River May 10th.

THE WESTERN CLUB

The Western Club dance which was to have been held in the Union Hall one week from tonight has been cancelled.

This wise action was no doubt furthered by the extreme lateness of the season; and, of course, the proximity of the examinations. What will be done instead has not been decided on yet.

Lateness of Season Cause of Withdrawal

The Varsity Hockey Team which had challenged for the Allan Cup em-

The reasons given are those of the lateness of the season and the near-

HEBREW SPECULATORS MAKE OFFERS TO MCGILL STUDENTS

Semetic Gentleman Attempts to Plv His Trade in Union but is Unsuccessful

As a result of the run on the City and District Savings Bank, a branch of which is situated on the corner of McGill College Avenue and St. Catherine Street, members of the Hebrew race have been buying up the accounts of depositors at sixty cents on the $1. The other night after the bank had closed a report was circulated to the effect that the bank was about to stop payment and as many of the students keep their accounts in that financial institution, some alarm was occasioned by the rumor.
Shortly after this story had become common property, a gentleman, who, judging by his facial characteristics, was of semetic origin; made his appearance at the Union, and began to make inquiries as to whether any of those present had deposits in the bank in question, and offered to buy up any such at the rate of seventy-five cents on the dollar. His name, he said, was Israel Finkelbaum, of Galletta St. However, his generous offer was not accepted by any of the bystanders, probably on account of the fact that the bank is generally believed to be able to meet all its engagements. H. V. Meredith of the Bank of Montreal characterized the run on the District Savings as being absolutely unwarranted, and as a consequence, it is likely that the confidence of the depositors will soon be restored.

THE WINNIPEG ALL-STAR TEAM IS CONSIDERED STRONG will Tour Eastern Canada and the States

The Winnipeg All-Star team, which is now on its way East for a series of exhibition games at Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa, Boston and New York, is pronounced today to be the fastest aggregation that has gone out of the West since the Keora Thistles endeavored to lift the Stanley Cup in 1904. The exhibition which they gave against the Winnipegs Saturday night has set the whole town talking. Bill Green, Billy Keen, Eddie Geroux, Gingras, D.
Bain and other veterans say that they eclipse any aggregation that ever left Winnipeg to try for hockey honors.

Their goalkeeper, Stuart, is one of the best in the game, and on the defence they have a great pair in Bawl and Del Irvine. Irvine is faster than Si Griffiths ever was at his prime.
On the line they have four wonderful shots and stickhandlers in 'Steamer' Maxwell, Francis Caldwell, F. Bawl, and Hammy Baker. Harry McKenzie and Dolly Grey are likewise dangerous. Both will be with tourists, joining them at Kenora.

The All-Stars expect their two hardest games because of the artificial ice, but Manager Keen is confident that the cream of Winnipeg will make a clean sweep not only at Toronto, but in Hamilton, Ottawa, Boston, New York and Cleveland. In fact, they believe that St. Mike's and Toronto will give them the stiffest opposition. Their games will afford Easterners their first opportunity of seeing a real Western team at top speed since the Kenora Thistles made their memorable invasion in 1904.

MCGILL HOCKEY SEVEN WILL CLASH WITH SHERBROOK

Play Eastern Township Team on Saturday

Next Saturday night will probably be the last time the senior hockey team will line up this season, when they will clash with the fast Sherbrooke septette. On paper the Mc-Gill team appears about the most formidable that has been presented this year, and the chances look exceedingly bright for a victory which will be the coup de grace of a most prosperous season.

Rankin will again appear with the team and will have the remaining two members of the stellar defence, Hughes and Montgomery behind him.
Thompson and Wickson ought to show all kinds of speed in centre ice; the latter in particular has improved greatly in his playing of late.
Ryley, who starred in the last game with R. M. C. and Forman will be on the wings. The team leaves on Saturday morning at 8:30, and when interviewed last night, Manager Reid stated that quite a large crowd of rooters had signified their intention of making the trip to see their favorites in action for the last time this year. The Sherbrooke fans are very keen to have the McGill men come up against their team, and are making elaborate preparations for the contest. Something in the form of a Smoker will possibly be provided.

RUGBY, HOCKEY, TRACK AND ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Meetings To-night in Union Starting at 7

Tonight, in the Union, the Athletic Association of the University will hold a meeting for the purpose of electing a President.

The Executive are particularly requested to be present and also as many others as possible, as a quorum of fifty is necessary for the transaction of business.

Immediately after this first meeting, which is scheduled to start at seven sharp, the Rugby Football Club will hold its annual meeting and election of officers.

The Footballers will in turn be supersided by the hockey men who meet for the same purposes.

As soon as the hockeyists have finished their business, the Track Club will assemble and also hold its annual meeting and election of officers.

President Thompson of the Association, is going to start his meeting right on time, and as the only business is the election of a President, the other Clubs ought to finish their work at an early hour.

Needless to say, every student should make an effort to be present, for these elections mean part of the Council for next year, and every man should exercise his franchise.

Now, ALL UP EVERYBODY! This means YOU!

SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM AT COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY

Was Founded by Late Joseph Pulitzer

There is a certain popular notion that poets are born and not made—some hold that the same applies to journalists. However, it is a very significant fact that the founder of the School of Journalism at Columbia University, the late Joseph Pulitzer, was a very practical journalist.
And as a recent writer in 'Outlook' states: 'Practical men are not in the habit of bequeathing large sums of money for visionary schemes'.

This new School, which was opened last autumn, is an experiment advocated and supported to the extent of a million dollars by the above mentioned Mr. Pulitzer.

The requirements for admission are similar to other high class institutions. Some knowledge of the classical languages—a more intimate acquaintance with the Moderns besides the usual history, mathematics, etc.
The course which extends over a period of four years, leads up to the degree of Bachelor of Literature. The course of study comprises: French, German, histories, literature, elements of law (especially in relation to libel), economics, besides the technical training in reporting, copy-writing, editing, re-writing, etc.

In all professional training there are two outstanding factors; one, training in the principles and method of the calling; the other, technical proficiency.

The first of these is attained at this new school within the walls of its University home—the technical and practical side of the course is obtained in the great city of New York.
The 'Columbia Cube' as they are known, are turned loose into the great city where they learn the serious part of news gathering. It appears that education now-a-days is becoming more and more a laboratory education. In Medicine there are the Clinical wards; in Law, the Practice Courts—and now for Journalism, there is the City of New York turned into a lab. Realising that news-gathering is the essential part of a newspaper work it is absolutely necessary that the facilities for teaching that Art, should be most extensive.

Dr. Williams head of the School said: "A true school of journalism can exist only in a big city. You cannot obtain the wide variety of news necessary for observation of the student in any other way".
'Modern journalism has grown to be a very great irresponsible power in a democratic nation and the result of this experiment ought to be of interest to beyond newspaper men.

The newspaper of today, mechanically and in the gathering of news, is a marvel of efficiency. But where scandal, calumny and blatant vulgarity blaze forth today we hope to see newspapers become, what they should be and are not always now, honest leaders of public opinion'.

FOOTBALLERS AT WORK YESTERDAY IN Y.M.C.A. GYM. AND TANK

Novel Aquatic Stunts Pulled off by Gridiron Warriors

The practice held yesterday by the men who are getting into trim for next year's football season, was most successful.

The first part of the work-out consisted of practice in handling the ball and in a game of basketball. The men put in a good hour's work at this kind of exercise.

The gridiron candidates have the use of the showers and tank after work outs and it was when the men adjourned to the bath that truly novel stunts were introduced. Besides numerous aquatic performances, which demonstrated that the football heroes are almost as proficient in the water as they are on the gridiron, dive tackling was indulged in without any fear of injury from bad falls, as the water proved softer to fall upon than the campus. The system of this dive tackling is very simple one man stands at the side of the tank while another takes a running dive from the end of the bath. The man at the side dives to tackle the one who took the shallow dive from the end of the tank. This scheme worked splendidly and the practice ought to aid the men very much in judging the distance necessary to dive to get his man. While, if he can hang on to a man in the water, he ought certainly be able to do so on the gridiron. Once George Draper when trying to tackle Dave Williamson dived a little too soon and consequently caught his man in mid-air; the result was most amusing.

Those men out included Draper, Dave and Norman Williamson, Woodlatt, Montgomery, Wilkes, Waterous, Fisher, Laing and Tingling; and George Laing would like to see a full turnout of all the men again at the next practice.

I spent; I took her to the Sophomore ball And lo, my sustenance, my all, My rent—has went.

CENTRAL Y.M.C.A. DOWN MCGILL IN FAST BASKETBALL GAME

Winners had Best of the Play Throughout the Contest

Last night on the Central Y.M.C.A. floor the McGill basketball team were defeated by the Y.M.C.A. team by the score of 27-14.

This was an exhibition game which McGill played with the Y.M.C.A. team in order to give the latter a chance to defray the cost of two rather unsuccessful trips to Quebec. A fairly large crowd was present; but practically no representatives of the Red and White.

The Centrals deserved to win on the showing they made, but it must be remembered that McGill was playing under a handicap, having several intermediate men on the line-up.

The final score describes very well how the play was divided. The Y.M.C.A. men played strong combination and the way in which they shot baskets was truly remarkable. On more than one occasion Sanders and Armstrong netted the sphere from a seemingly impossible angle.

George Kennedy seemed to find a great difficulty in scoring on his penalty throws and only managed to score from two of these out of about fifteen free throws which were allowed him. Calder played his usual steady game, but was a little slow as were nearly all the McGill team. This was partly due to lack of con-

"Where," asked the female sufrage orator, "would man be today were it not for woman?"

She paused a moment and looked round the hall.

"I repeat," she said, "where would man be today if not for woman?"

"He'd be in the Garden of Eden eating strawberries," answered a voice from the gallery.—Tit-Bits.

THINGS THEATRICAL

MR. MILTON ROSMER who has been scoring great successes at His Majesty's Theatre in the Horniman Company.

"THE RED WIDOW" FOR HIS MAJESTY'S

When the curtain rises on the first act of "The Red Widow" at His Majesty's a week from next Monday there will be disclosed the foyer of the Alcazar Music Hall, London. The second act will take place in the leading hotel in St. Petersburg. The third act will veer to the gardens of the Czar's winter palace, where a 'white fete' is in progress. The Russian characters represented in the play include Princess Sophia, Countess Alexandra, Baron Maximilian Scarevich and Count Ivan Scorpioff. It is claimed that the plot and the story is one of the most fascinating that has been set to music and affords the popular comedian ample scope for his amusing antics; he appears in the play as Cicero Hannibal Butts a retired millionaire corset manufacturer. He gets into serious trouble by flirting with a pretty woman, who unknown to him is a dangerous nihilist; she leads him into all kinds of plots and dangers before he is able to free himself. The part of the Red Widow will be played by Flora Zabell.

BILLIARD TOURNAMENT IS FAST DRAWING TO A CLOSE

Hull Defeats Stone and will Play Graham for Final

The Union last night witnessed another semi-final in the billiard tournament. The game was between J. J. Hull and H. E. Stone, and resulted in a win for the former. Hull played scratch, and Stone had a handicap of sixty-five, but Hull passed his opponent's score when it stood at 153, and maintained the lead thus gained throughout. When Hull's score stood around 200, the scoring on both sides was very slow, neither player seeming able to score. The final score stood at 251-210, which about represented the relative prowess of the players.

This leaves Hull to play against C. C. Graham for the championship, a game that should prove very exciting. W. H. Morris and Stone will then have to play off for the third place, there being three prizes offered.

There was quite a large attendance at the game yesterday, and as the final will very probably be one of the best games, there should be a large turnout.

dition, as some of the men had not been on the floor for a month.

Holford, of the Y.M.C.A., was hurt in the second half, but was able to continue after a short rest.

Several peculiar decisions were given by the referee but none of these had any disastrous effect, the game being too one-sided to make this possible. The line-ups were as follows:

Central Y. M. C. A. McGill Goodfellow... defence... Busby Beecher... " " " " Williscroft Holford... " " " " Calder Armstrong... forward... Smith Sanders... " " " " Kennedy
Referee—T. Kelly.

Cyril Scott has a long and distinguished career behind him, and is well known in England, his native land, Canada and the cities of America. He was last seen here in "The Lottery Man" but is known for his performances of "The Prince Chap," "A Gentleman of Leisure," "The Man of the Hour" which was written for him and for his creation of the juvenile role in "Floradora."
